MCKESSON SUPPORTS TEXAS SCOTTISH RITE HOSPITAL FOR CHILDREN THROUGH MCKESSON FOUNDATION GRANT FUNDS

McKesson Also Gives Back through Staff Volunteer Efforts, Charity Golf Tournament

(DALLAS – April 23, 2007) – Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children (TSRHC) is proud to announce that the McKesson Foundation recently gave TSRHC a grant of $12,000 to underwrite operating room stretchers. McKesson has been a friend and supporter of TSRHC for 20 years, donating more than $150,000 to the hospital.

“McKesson has been an incredible friend to TSRHC for twenty years,” said Stephanie Brigger, vice president of development at Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Children. “Their generous support through the McKesson Foundation and through employee volunteerism has truly made a difference in thousands of our patients’ lives. We are proud of this wonderful partnership.”

A group of McKesson employees recently volunteered as part of McKesson's Community Action Days by leading arts and crafts projects with patients and families in the clinic waiting areas. This is the second year that McKesson has chosen TSRHC to participate in their Community Action Days program. In 2006, McKesson volunteers painted a mural in the hospital’s Luke Waites Center for Dyslexia and Learning Disorders and planted flowers on the hospital grounds.

In addition, the hospital was the beneficiary of McKesson’s first CIT Charity Golf Tournament this spring, which raised more than $12,000 for the hospital.
